EXPRESSION OF INTEREST

The Scuba Gym Australia together with our partners, invite you to consider the healing power of Scuba Diving. Research has shown that Scuba diving provides a unique environment with many therapeutic effects that can't be replicated on land. If I can breathe underwater, what else is possible? This is huge for all divers and especially those with disabilities, PTSD or amputees.

Scuba Diving is considered a high risk activity and is seriously good fun. Due to the risk involved it's important that all students complete the online component of the training prior to learning the practical skills. This should take a week part time to complete. If you are interested in joining our Scuba Warriors and are willing to put the effort into getting your Internationally recognized Open Water Scuba Diving certificate - we will give you the opportunity to dive with a purpose.

We have missions lined for our Scuba Warriors to participate in after you have qualified and you can also volunteer your time at The Scuba Gym when we provide Scuba Therapy to our clients with disabilities. If this is of great interest please tick your preferred dates and that you understand and agree to the pre-requisites and fill in your personal details on page 2.

Pre-requisites

	Complete a medical online which may require you to see a dive doctor for a dive medical (at your cost)
	To confirm your understanding of the theory each student is only permitted to start the practical once you have passed the final exam.
	Each student must be able to swim comfortably complete a 200m swim with no mask or a 300m swim with a mask.
	You must be able to tread water for 10minutes un assisted.
